Salute To 1926 Class Highlights Alumni Banquet

Following the Class of '26 luncheon, members of the class and two members of the faculty at that time posed for this picture: They are, front row, seated: Dr. C. S. Lowry, retired professor; Dr. Blanche Yewell Martin, Owensboro; Mrs. Martha S. Carter, Murray; and Mrs. Mabel G. Pullen, Murray, a member of the faculty. Back row, from the left: Mrs. Robbie Tinsley Harrison and Mrs. Reba Brown Miller, Murray; Mrs. Mary Campbell Williams, Paducah, and Mrs. Evelyn Linn Albritten.

The annual Murray State University Alumni banquet Saturday night was an occasion for taking time out to reflect upon the past. "The doors to Murray State University opened on Sept. 24, 1923, and then began a history which carried forward for 54 very rich and productive years."

So said R. William Taylor, executive vice-president and general manager of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers, Dearborn, Mich., and featured speaker for the occasion. A 1950 graduate of Murray State, Taylor spoke before a gathering of about 500 in the ballroom of the Waterfield Student Union Building.

Speaking of the university, Taylor said, "You are here tonight because it has done so much for you over the years—not only as a part of your educational process, but in teaching you how to live and cope with the world."

The highlight of Taylor's address, however, was a salute to the Class of 1926, Murray's first graduating class, celebrating its golden anniversary. On hand were the six surviving members of the 12-member class, as well as representatives of the deceased.

"It is interesting to look back at the old College Bulletin of the Murray Normal School and Teachers College to see what it was like," Taylor said. He described the campus in 1926, consisting of three buildings which offered "electric lights and steamed heat." He also noted that there was no tuition for Kentucky students, "but out-of-state students were required to pay the significant sum of $18. Room and board at Wells Hall was $5 per week."

Taylor noted that Murray State's growth since those early days has been tremendous. "The university has graduated more than 20,000 students in its industrious history," he said. "It is the largest industry in the Jackson Purchase with about $1 million in monthly payroll."

In a surprise announcement during the banquet, President Curris unveiled an oil painting of Mrs. Laurine Wells Lovett, Owensboro, which will hang in Lovett Auditorium, named in her honor. Mrs. Lovett, a member of the first board of regents and the daughter of Dr. Rainey T. Wells, founder and second president of the institution, was present for the unveiling.

With her were her son, Wells Lovett, an Owensboro insurance executive, his wife, Mary, their son, James, 11, and her first cousin, Ms. Mayrele Johnson, who taught political science at Murray State during the 1940's.

The honor of heading the long list of graduates belongs to the Class of 1926, however. The six class members present were: Evelyn Linn Albritten, Robbie Tinsley Harrison, Reba Brown Miller, and Martha Stevenson Carter, all of Murray; Dr. Blanche Yewell Martin, Owensboro; and Mary Campbell Williams, Paducah.

The deceased class members were: M. O. Wrather, Emma J. Helm, Murrell K. Moody, William E. Morgan, Walter B. Moser, and Margaret Glasgow Townsend.

New Alumni Association officers were also installed at the banquet. Richard H. Lewis of Frankfort, formerly of Benton, succeeded James H. Johnson of Owensboro as president. Sid Easley, Murray, was installed as vice-president, and State Sen. Pat M. McCuiston, Pembroke, was installed as president-elect.

Five new representatives to the executive council were also installed. They are: Dr. Rex Alexander, Murray; Floyd Burdette, Martin, Tenn.; Marilyn R. Mitchell, Lake City; Dr. William R. Rowlett, Hopkinsville; and Peggy S. Shroat, Smithland.

Rex Alexander Chosen As Distinguished Professor

Dr. Rex Alexander, a professor in the Department of Recreation and Physical Education, has been chosen as the 13th faculty member at Murray State University to receive the coveted distinguished professor award of the Alumni Association.

He was presented to the gathering at the annual alumni banquet Saturday evening by Richard W. Farrell, chairman of the Department of Music and last year's recipient. Alexander also was presented with a check for $500 when his selection was announced.

Since he came to Murray State in 1952, after receiving his master's degree from Indiana University, Dr. Alexander has become widely-known across the region and the state in the area of athletics.

For four years, 1954 to 1958, he was head basketball coach with his 1955 team winning the Louisville Invitational Tournament. While tennis coach, three of his teams won Ohio Valley Conference championships. In addition, he has long been active in the administration of high school athletics across Kentucky and currently is assigning secretary of the First Region Basketball Officials Association.

Before coming to Murray State, Dr.

Alexander taught mathematics and was head basketball and tennis coach at what is now Paducah Community College. While there, one of his basketball teams won the state and southern district championships.

Currently, Dr. Alexander is a member and past president of the Kentucky Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and a recipient of the association's Distinguished Service Award. He also is a member of the National Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and serves on the evaluation board of the southern district.

Dr. Alexander, who received his doctoral degree in physical education from Indiana University in 1972, also is active in civic affairs in Murray. Elected to the City Council in 1969, he served three two-year terms, during which he was chairman of the council's Parks and Recreation Committee.

His community service also includes several years on the Red Cross Board of Directors and he was recently recognized for providing over 500 volunteer hours in water safety and small craft instruction.

Mrs. Alexander is the former Doris Snyder of Owensboro and they have two children: David, a certified public accountant with Ernst-Ernst, Lexington, and Mrs. John (Cindy) Wilham of Knoxville, Tenn. They live at 1320 Wells Ave., in Murray.

Besides Alexander and Farrell, other past winners of the distinguished professor award at Murray State are: Dr. C. S. Lowry, 1964; Dr. Liza Spann, 1965; Dr. Max Carman, 1966; Dr. Walter Blackburn, 1967; Mrs. Evelyn Linn Albritten, 1968; Robert K. Baar, 1969; William B. Taylor, 1970; Dr. Karl F. Hussung, 1971; E. B. Howton, 1972; Miss Rubie Smith, 1973; and Dr. Robert F. Alsip, 1974.

Dr. Rex Alexander (right center) is presented the award as the Distinguished Professor of the Year by Richard W. Farrell, the 1975 recipient. Also shown is R. William Taylor, Birmingham, Mich., banquet speaker.

Robertson Media Center Wins First Place Award In Kentucky Competition

Murray's Robertson Elementary School's Media Center, under Mrs. Ruth Pasco as librarian, has won First Place in the State of Kentucky Audio-Visual Media Improvement competition. Mrs. Pasco received the award for Class A Division in Louisville at the Kentucky Audio-Visual Association luncheon during K.E.A.

Divisions are based upon a school's enrollment. All public and private schools, grades kindergarten through 12, are eligible.

First place winners include: Luther Robertson Elementary School, Murray, Class A; Virginia Wheeler Elementary School, Louisville, Class AA; Danville High School, Danville, Class AA; and St. Xavier High School, Louisville, Class AAA. Because of closeness in judging, a third place award was given Franklin County High School, Frankfort, in the AAA secondary division.

A panel of judges selected the finalists from comprehensive questionnaires. On-site visitations were made to judge the state winners in the elementary and secondary divisions. Edward McGuire of KET, Lexington, visited Robertson School.

"Winning this award was very gratifying," Mrs. Pasco said. "It is exciting to plan programs, activities, and materials for interested students and community people have helped our programs very much." She invited the public to visit the Media Center at any time to watch their work.

FIRST PLACE AWARD—Students surround Mrs. John Pasco at the Robertson Elementary School Library to inspect the plaque received by the library media center for its first place award in class A for the Kentucky Audio Visual Association Media Improvement Award. The library media center at Robertson specializes in all types of media work, such as printed matter, films, records, displays, and other types of material designed to stimulate the student's desire to read and learn, according to Mrs. Pasco, who is librarian at the school.

Squad Battles Trailer Blaze

Thirteen volunteers and three trucks from the Calloway County Fire-Rescue Squad and one truck from the Murray Fire Department battled a trailer fire blaze early Monday morning in Shady Oaks Trailer Court.

The 5:30 a.m. fire apparently started under the kitchen sink of the trailer belonging to Jack Norsworthy and rented by Lawrence Danziger. Booster lines were used to extinguish the blaze and serious damage was confined to the sink and cabinets underneath.

Members of the Rescue Squad responding to the fire call were Jim Green, Hal Winchester, Floyd Garland, Max Dowdy, Jerry Edwards, Steve Ladd, Sam Smith, Loyd Key, John Whitmer, Danny Parrish, Bud Miller and Carl Hosford. The call was dispatched by the Mercy Professional Ambulance.

Sunny but Cool

Becoming sunny but cool this afternoon with high in the mid and upper 50s. Fair and very cool with scattered frost likely tonight, low in the mid and upper 30s. Tuesday mostly sunny and a little warmer, high in the mid and upper 60s. Wednesday sunny and a little warmer.

Three Murray State Graduates Chosen As Distinguished Alumni

Three Murray State University graduates who have distinguished themselves in their fields have been chosen as Distinguished Alumni by the Murray State Alumni Association.

Their selections, announced Saturday by Murray State President Constantine W. Curris at the annual alumni banquet, brings to 19 the total number so honored in the 54-year history of the institution. Named were:

Donald M. Prince, a 1948 graduate of Murray State and a native of Crossville, Ill. He is currently a vice-president of Rand McNally and Co., Chicago, and directs its Educational Publishing Division. He is also chairman of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, the statewide coordinating board for all universities, colleges, and community colleges. He was appointed to the position by Gov. Dan Walker in 1973.

Van Bogard Dunn, a native of Sedalia and a member of the Class of 1946. For the past 16 years he has served as dean and professor of New Testament of the Methodist Theological School, Delaware, Ohio. He has also served as pastor of the Methodist Church in Kirksey and Jackson, Tenn. He also served on the faculty of the Department of Religion of Lambuth College in Jackson.

L. J. Hortin, professor emeritus and recipient of a master's degree from Murray State in 1943 and honorary doctoral degrees from Murray and McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill. He began his association with Murray State as a teacher of journalism and publicity director in 1928. He left to serve as director of the School of Journalism at Ohio University for 20 years, but returned to Murray in 1967 to finish his career as an educator as chairman of the Department of Journalism before his retirement in 1974. He currently lives in Murray.

The recipients were selected by a special committee appointed by the Alumni Association's Executive Council following their nomination by members of the association.

When using underlining, cut it first and transfer all marks to underlining only. Use marked underlining as a construction guide. On fashion fabric, simply mark a dot at the end of darts to match marked underlining. — Dean Roper, Mayfield.

Lack of yard space should not prevent you from enjoying home-grown vegetables. It is possible to raise a garden on a patio, porch, balcony, or windowsill. The plants are able to serve as ornamental specimens as well as a source of food. More and more vegetables which grow well in containers are being developed. With a little practice, you can easily grow a successful "city garden." — Patricia Curtis, Benton.

All parents, at times, feel inadequate and insecure, but most children also experience a mixture of feelings. Therefore, we need to remember that the one thing vital to a growing child is good parents who really love him and accept him as he is without comparing him with someone else and who will guide him toward maturity. — Sue Fraser, Bardwell.

There is danger of falls and burns in the bedroom and falls, poisoning and electric shock in the bathroom. Know the potential danger of the medicines stored in your bathroom and use them carefully. — Mrs. Barletta Wraether, Murray.

Mixing old and new pieces of furniture is popular today. It is also practical, as you don't find it necessary to discard good, old pieces, yet still have the freedom to add new ones. A mixture of old and new furniture — when well chosen — can make very interesting rooms and can add spice and charm to your room. — Mildred Potts, LaCenter.

Practice safety when using a power lawn mower. NEVER put gasoline in a hot mower. ALWAYS wear shoes with hard toes. Read your owner's manual carefully and follow directions. Never go off and leave the mower running — not even for a moment. — Maxine Griffin, Clinton.

Here are Tips to Compare Existing vs. New Homes

Chicago (NFS) — Homebuilders are predicting a 25 per cent increase in construction in 1976, divided about equally between single-family homes and multi-family construction such as rental apartments, condominiums, and townhomes.

If the economy picks up some steam and puffs up public confidence, the homebuying public, which has been concentrating heavily on used homes during the construction slump, will then have a little more to choose from.

AND WHILE it's certainly nice to have a choice, there's a drawback: decision-making becomes more complicated.

"Choosing between new or used homes is a real dilemma for many people," notes Robert G. Walters, senior vice president of Baird & Warner, Inc., one of the largest real estate companies in the Chicago area.

"Both brand new homes and older ones have their advantages and disadvantages. Before you actually start hunting it's a good idea to weigh the features in advance and decide philosophically which way you want to go," he said.

HE OFFERS the following for your consideration:

The new house: If you're reasonably certain that you're buying from a reliable builder, the advantages will include new, solid construction that should be worry-free for some years to come; new, guaranteed equipment throughout; and the pleasures that come from overall newness. Disadvantages may include an unexpected drain on your financial resources for such items as fencing, landscaping, and interior or exterior extras. If all of these features are included, you'll be paying for them in the price of the house.

The used house: Advantages may include outstanding location; more spaciousness for the money; expensive, beautiful landscaping; good, usable carpeting, draperies, and blinds; and many built-in extras at no cost to you. If the house is 10 years old or older, however, you may incur expenses of replacing the water heater or air conditioning unit; some electrical or plumbing repairs; and the need for general interior and exterior repairs and remodeling.

Down the Garden Path

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

Now that Easter has come and gone, we can plant and dig and sow to our hearts content. Of course there is the danger yet of one of those lingering frosts that could come along in the next week or two. But we can usually feel safe after Easter has passed. That is a strange quirk of nature, but a pretty reliable one.

I am hoping that before this gets into print, we will have had a good soaking rain. Plants are beginning to show the lack of moisture and so be sure to soak thoroughly any plant or shrub you set out in the yard right now. I planted my white marigolds that I had growing in the greenhouse, and will have to water them nearly every day until it rains. Not only the warm weather but the wind has dried out the ground very quickly. Don't wait until you see a plant droop its leaves before you water it. Everytime this happens, it takes away something from the strength of the plant.

You can still set out shrubs or plants of most any kind. Just be sure the soil is loose and loamy and give it plenty of water. Really, you can move or plant anything, anytime of the year, with the proper precautions. It is a matter of knowing what the plant requires and following instructions.

I am happy to have been able to get some pansies. I have always loved them and until last year had little success with them. But I found the exact spot, with the right soil and they thrived. So I am putting out some more and hope I can enjoy these lovely little things again this year. They take good soil, well drained, very little sun, just a couple of hours a day will do it. Then sit back and enjoy the blossoms all summer long.

Keep them picked and they will last longer.

Nasturtiums are another old favorite. They need almost full sun and bloom cheerfully day after day through sun and rain and wind. These old-fashioned plants are hard to beat. I believe in trying some of the newer exotic things but don't ever neglect nasturtium, verbenas, bachelor button, larkspur and those things our grandmothers loved.

Remember to put your coffee grounds on the shrubs and save your tea leaves for your roses. I don't know why this is so good for them but put them on while they are wet. They look nice and seem to have some sort of tonic for the plants.

Mrs. Nance Is Hostess For Church Meet

The Baptist Women of the West Fork Church met Monday, April 19, at seven p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ann Nance.

Mrs. Larue Sladd was the leader of the program which included a discussion on missions and the work of the church.

The president, Mrs. Cozy Garland, presided. Those present were Mrs. Gladys Gupton, Mrs. Martha Butterworth, Mrs. Cora Byrns, Mrs. Ann Nance, Mrs. Larue Sladd, and Mrs. Cozy Garland.

Your fried chicken will have a nicer browned crust, if you add a little paprika to the flour, salt, and pepper mixture with which you coat the chicken.

Two Aged Sisters Inspire Writer As They Manage Alone At Home

By Estelle Spiceland
April 12, 1976

If this cool weather continues, instead of gardening, I may start reading the stack of old magazines, McCall's, Journals, and Red Books, found in the attic of the old home and dating as far back as 1927. Such magazines are precious now.

It will be refreshing to celebrate the Bicentennial year re-reading papers marked by my mother as "good" before sex and crime filled all the pages.

We could learn much about olden times from the many still left who remember the hardships of the past, and how to triumph over them.

Recently we were inspired by visiting two aged sisters, Mrs. Lenore Jones, age 89, nursing 91 year old Miss Beatrice Locke who had a broken hip. When asked how they managed alone, Mrs. Jones pointed upwards saying "Not alone, he helps."

A neighbor, Loman Bailey, could say the same as he does his housework while his invalid wife sets in her wheel chair, helpless.

So many who have lost their loved ones and face the loneliness have had to learn "Thy rod and thy staff, they comfort me," Psalms 23.

May the Jake Claxton family of Hamlin who so suddenly lost 42 year old William, an only son, in an automobile accident in McCracken County, and all the bereaved ones who have lost loved ones find true the words, "He restoreth my soul."

We heard good news at a funeral home that Rainey Elkins was being baptized on Easter Sunday.

Spring revivals have been in progress in Murray and most local churches.

Young Larry Salmon, now pastor at Coldwater's new Baptist Church, was the speaker at Mt. Carmel. His brother, Billy, sings with the Kings Sons.

Mrs. Burman Parker after a month's visit to California with Mrs. Lawrence Parker is back home with her as her guest.

Concord natives can be found in many places. The former Bobbie Grubbs of Calloway, now a resident in California, invited the Parkers to her home, a visit as enjoyable as seeing the sights in San Francisco.

My rare tour from the Concord community was to the Jenny Stuart Hospital in Hopkinsville recently while Guy Lovins was there for allergy tests. The Tom Nances of Hopkinsville now live here.

The Bicentennial year can go down in history as being the first year for the long established little village of Concord to be without a store. Fishermen cannot buy a cold drink here.

But Concord is now the home of famous Stan Hitchcock, and the Red Country Music Barn draws crowds.

An Concord Cemetery shows signs of progress. Frank McCuiston has completed the wrought iron sign saying "New Concord Cemetery."

Finally the new addition to the grounds is now completed, being graded, limed, and seeded.

So when the last final hymn shall be chanted, Concord does offer a place to rest.

Very crisp bacon may be eaten with the fingers, say etiquette experts, but bacon with any vestige of fat must be cut with fork or knife and eaten with the fork.

DEAR ABBY: Something bothers me, and I would like your opinion and the opinion of others who have dealt with this problem.

Is it considered proper to smell food that is served to you before eating it?

I am seriously considering marrying a man who does this, and I find it extremely irritating and embarrassing. He smells the food in the finest restaurants, at the homes of friends and even at my home. It's not just a quick sniff—he puts his nose right down near the food and smells it thoroughly!

We are both in our late 50s and have been married before. Outside of this one fault, he is intelligent, charming and delightful company. But I'm not sure I could sit down for three meals a day with a man who has this disgusting habit. Or am I too picky?

PICKY ME

DEAR PICKY: Diplomatically tell the gentleman that his habit bothers you and suggest that he be less obvious about it. Don't insist that he drop the habit unless you want to drop HIM. Old habits die hard.

DEAR ABBY: Dad and us kids want to get Mom a "mother's bracelet" for Mother's Day. It will have a charm with each of her children's name and birth date engraved on it.

Last year my oldest brother died, and I wonder if we should include his name and birth date. He was a very important part of our family, even though he was mentally retarded.

Do you think it would make Mom sad to have his charm on her bracelet? We don't want to make her unhappy, but we don't want her to think we have forgotten him. Thank you.

MOM'S KIDS

DEAR KIDS: Include a charm for your oldest brother. I think your mom would appreciate it. You are very loving and thoughtful children to consider it.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I disagree on something and hope you can settle it.

Is it all right to tell a hostess to please put the dogs and cats out of sight during dinner?

The situation is as follows: My wife's mother has two dogs and three cats who have the run of the house. I don't mind pets if they are clean-looking and don't stay under my feet all the time. My mother-in-law's pets are always on her lap. She feeds them while she eats and serves others, which spoils my appetite.

Also, one dog is part St. Bernard, and he drools and slobbers all the time, which also isn't very appetizing. Plus the cats seem to have chronic eczema, and their visible sores turn my stomach.

My wife says Mom's pets are like her "children," and as guests, we should look the other way and not say anything. I say, I should politely ask Mom to please put the pets in another room while we're eating.

What do you say?

WEAK STOMACH

DEAR WEAK: If your description of the pets is accurate, I'm with you all the way!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Your Individual Horoscope Frances Drake

FOR TUESDAY, APRIL 27, 1976

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Someone may try to involve you in a personal problem. Steer clear of the situation—as your instinct probably warns.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)

Whatever your plans, take into account new trends and ideas, changing maneuvers to fit current situations.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

Beneficent Mercury influences now heighten imagination and encourage your ingenious methods. Capitalize on ALL of your talents and you should do extremely well.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

Especially favored now: conferences, making plans for the future, pursuits which stimulate the intellect.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

Hold off expansion of activities until you make sure you are within safe limits, and can handle the "extras" without deserting primary interests.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Favorable stellar influences stimulate your ingenuity. Managing present situations cleverly will be wiser than reaching for "better prospects," however.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Pay no heed to glowing reports or sensational rumors—especially if finances are involved. Keep on an even keel and you should do well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Be ready to face competition. You usually enjoy the stimulation of this, but don't burn the candle at both ends in your desire to get ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

An associate will offer some unexpected assistance. Be receptive. The proffered help will be genuine, the motive sincere.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Routine will probably bore you now, but don't idle time away. Get busy on one of your pet creative projects. Influences stimulate original ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

If you've been interested in a new project but have postponed taking action, NOW is the time! But be sure you have the know-how and enough data to go on.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

There are tendencies now to take off on tangents and to ease up in effort just when more persistence is needed. Don't fail yourself by yielding to such inclinations.

YOU BORN TODAY are meditative, scholarly, intuitive and extremely sensitive. This sensitivity works best in the field of healing, which is why so very many noted surgeons, physicians and nurses have been born under the Sign of Taurus. But it also gives you awareness in many other directions, such as invention, philosophy, writing and painting. You are also indomitable.

In military and scientific affairs, for instance, you believe that the "impossible" can be done—and do it. The world "genius" best sums up the developed Taurus born on this date. Birthdate of: Gen. U.S. Grant, 18th Pres., U.S.A. Samuel Morse, inventor (Morse code).

Consumer Comment

Mobile Home Complaints

By Robert F. Stephens
Attorney General

In 1975, the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection received more written consumer complaints about mobile homes than any other product. To help consumers with this type problem, the Kentucky General Assembly passed a mobile home "lemon" law that will become effective this June.

This mobile home "lemon" law was enacted to protect you from having to pay for or live in mobile homes which pose an imminent danger to your health, safety or right of occupancy because of improper workmanship or defective parts or materials.

If a defect which would cost the owner more than four per cent of the purchase price to repair or replace cannot be made good after three attempts by the manufacturer, the mobile home may be declared a "lemon" and you may be entitled to a refund of the purchase price or a new mobile home.

If you discover a defect within the first 12 months after delivery, you have certain legal rights. These rights must be exercised according to procedures established by this new law.

First, the owner must write a letter to the manufacturer containing the following information: an accurate description of the conditions which make the mobile home unsafe or unsuitable for living, your name and address and a statement saying you are exercising your legal rights under the Kentucky mobile home law. Send the letter by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the manufacturer and send a copy to the dealer who sold you the mobile home. All of this must be done within 10 days after discovering the defect.

After the manufacturer receives your letter, he must examine the mobile home within 10 days and notify you in writing of his findings.

The manufacturer may decide there is no defect in your mobile home or that it is due to abuse by you, the action of a third party or an act beyond the manufacturer's control. If you disagree with his findings, you may have to bring a legal action to enforce your rights. If you should win in court, you will also be entitled to reasonable attorney's fees.

If the manufacturer does discover a defect and agrees to promptly repair or replace it and grant a four month extension of the owner's rights under this law, the owner must make the mobile home available for repair at the home-site within three days after receiving the notification that it can be fixed.

If you do not do this, you cannot exercise any further rights under this law. In situations where the occupants must find other lodging during the repair period, the manufacturer must provide equivalent accommodations or accommodations acceptable to the owner.

When the manufacturer agrees with the consumer that the mobile home is a "lemon," then he shall supply the consumer with a new mobile home of the same year and model or return the purchase price minus any loss in value due to abuse by the consumer or a third party. If given a new mobile home, it must be supplied at the home-site and warranted as though it were just being bought.

TODAY'S TOPIC: 'Divestiture' Disaster

Seeking a scapegoat for higher oil prices, resulting from the political pricing of oil by foreign oil-producing nations, liberals in Congress have picked on U. S. oil companies and determined to break up their operations.

Specifically, the scapegoat-seekers are calling for "divestiture," namely a change in the law which would prohibit American oil companies from combining production, refining, transportation and marketing. Divestiture, in other words, means dismemberment.

The legislation designed by the advocates of "divestiture" also would limit the areas of the energy business in which a company can be involved. For example, a large oil company would be barred from mining coal or uranium.

Proponents of "divestiture" argue that breaking up large oil companies would make them more competitive and help lower prices. The argument doesn't hold water. Dismantling the U. S. oil industry would only further weaken the U. S. position in negotiating with the international oil cartel dominated by the Arab oil states.

Prof. Neil Jacoby of the Graduate School of Management at The University of California, recently testified that breaking up the oil companies "would lead to higher-priced petroleum products, would increase dependence upon foreign energy, and would strengthen and prolong the effectiveness of the OPEC cartel."

The drive for dismemberment of the large, integrated oil companies stems from emotional and political bias. Despite the political myths, the oil business is not a concentrated industry. The largest domestic crude producer accounts for no more than 8 per cent of U. S. output. The largest refiner has 8.3 per cent of total American refinery capacity. The largest marketer of gasoline has 8.2 per cent of the business.

William P. Tavoulareas, president of Mobil Oil Corp., recently testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee's Subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly that "In the United States there are more than 8,000 companies engaged in exploration for and production of oil and gas, about 130 in refining, and some 15,000 wholesale marketers."

The congressional liberals, who advocate dismemberment, simply ignore these facts. They also ignore the need for sizeable companies capable of raising large sums of capital. For example, one oil company recently spent $350 million for a single producing platform in the North Sea. A new refinery may cost as much as $800 million. Obviously, finding, refining and getting substantial quantities of new oil to market requires huge outlays by private companies. If American oil companies are dismembered, private enterprise isn't likely to be able to meet the energy needs of the American people.

That would suit many liberals. They want to get private enterprise out of the energy business. They want to nationalize energy development and production. But the vast majority of the American people don't want a socialized energy industry which would be operated by bureaucrats at taxpayer expense.

As for keeping the oil industry out of mining, that makes no more sense than prohibiting automakers from manufacturing trucks and railway locomotives. Mining has been neglected in the United States for a number of years, and hampered by environmental extremists who oppose surface mines. To develop the coal and uranium the American people need in the years ahead, the mining industry must have access to additional sources of capital. The oil industry's interest in other forms of energy development is both logical and constructive.

If the American people want adequate energy in the future, they must prevent the dismemberment of the oil industry by politicians who prefer nationalization to the free operation of private enterprise. The immediate need is for the public to realize that "divestiture" is a move toward socialism as well as a giant step away from energy self-sufficiency.

Agree Or Not

The Kentucky Court Of Appeals

By S. C. Van Curon

VAN CURON

FRANKFORT—When will the Kentucky Court of Appeals be created under the constitutional amendment approved by the voters in 1975?

The best guess is around July 1 according to Supreme Court Chief Justice Scott Reed, maybe a little sooner.

The amendment and enabling legislation says the governor is to appoint four members, the Kentucky Bar Association is to elect two members and Chief Justice Reed will constitute a nomination committee for the 14 Appellate Judgeships, two from each district. This committee is to nominate three judges from each of the seven districts, and the governor is to choose two within 60 days after the nomination. If he doesn't act within 60 days, then Justice Reed makes the appointments.

Deadline for the Bar Association balloting is May 9 to 15.

Judge Reed said last week he hopes the appellate appointments are made by mid-June. The new biennial budget begins July 1 that provides funds for the courts, but there is an emergency fund to provide office desks and other necessary equipment so the offices could become operative by July 1.

The new Appellate Court, with 14 members, will be structured this way: The new judges will elect their own chief judge and his duties will be chiefly administrative. One of the 14 will be named a swing judge and the other 12 will be divided into panels of three each. The swing judge will fill in for anyone ill on any of the four panels.

The appointed judges all will have to run for re-election in November, 1976 for a full eight year term on a non-partisan ballot. There will be no primary this first time, but in 1984 there will be a primary election. The two getting the most votes in the district then will be on the fall ballot.

For this year, however, the one getting the largest number of votes in the November election, regardless of how many run, will be elected. This makes all of the appellate judges up for election the same year, but the Supreme Court Judges will run at the time their present terms expire, thus creating a situation where all are not elected the same year.

If the appellate judges are named before July 1, their salaries will be the same ($32,000) as the present salary for Supreme Court Judges. But after July 1, a new salary schedule was adopted by the 1976 General Assembly. The chief justice of the Supreme Court's salary will be $39,500 a year, and other judges will receive $39,000. The chief justice of the Court of Appeals will be $37,500 and the others will receive a salary of $37,000. The salary of circuit judges will be $35,000.

The lowest tier of the court system, district judges, will become effective January 1, 1978 under the amendment, but enabling legislation will be passed by a special session of the General Assembly Gov. Julian Carroll will call between Thanksgiving and Christmas. Their salaries have not been established but are expected to be around $30,000, or could be $32,500 if the spread between the other court salaries is maintained.

Candidates for the district judgeships will run in a primary in May, 1977 and the two getting the most votes in each district on the non-partisan ballot will run in November.

A spokesman for Gov. Carroll said he has not indicated when he will appoint his four members to the Court of Appeals nominating committee, but speculation here is that he may wait until after the May presidential primary.

There is only one definite item established in the call for the special legislative session and that is the district court system. However, the governor has said he may include no-fault insurance and the Jefferson County sewage bond issue. The two latter subjects are dependent up recommendations from studies now being made.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, April 26, the 117th day of 1976. There are 249 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1607, Capt. John Smith landed at Cape Henry, Va., with the first group of colonists who would establish a permanent English settlement in America.

On this date:

In 1783, 7,000 Tories sailed from New York for Nova Scotia.

In 1785, the American naturalist and artist John James Audubon was born in Haiti.

In 1865, Abraham Lincoln's assassin, John Wilkes Booth, was captured on a farm near Port Royal, Va.

In 1925, Paul von Hindenberg was elected president of Germany.

In 1954, it was announced that 900,000 American children would receive injections in a nationwide test of Salk antipolio vaccine.

In 1964, the African nations of Tanganyika and Zanzibar merged, forming Tanzania.

Ten years ago: A sidewinder missile, launched by a U.S. jet, shot down the first Communist MIG21 of the Vietnamese war.

Five years ago: A presidential commission recommended that Communist China be admitted into the United Nations, with Nationalist China retaining its membership.

One year ago: Tens of thousands of labor union members marched and rallied in Washington, urging government action to provide more jobs.

Today's birthdays: Entertainer Carol Burnett is 42. Writer Bruce Jay Friedman is 46.

Thought for today: We must not, in opening our schools to everyone, confuse the idea that all should have equal chance with the notion that all have equal endowments — Adlai Stevenson, 1900-1965.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Congress acted on petitions arising from reverses in the Northern campaign. One general was advanced $200 because of a lack of money.

HEARTLINE

HEARTLINE is a service for senior citizens of all ages. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems—fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write HEARTLINE, 8514 N. Main St., Dayton, Ohio 45415. Senior citizens will receive prompt replies. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

Heartline: Can you explain how a railroad worker establishes a current connection under the railroad retirement program?—P.E.L.

Answer: A railroad worker establishes a current connection if he works in the railroad industry 12 of the 30 months directly preceding his retirement or death. If an employee leaves the railroad industry prior to his retirement or death and does not establish a current connection there is an alternative method that may apply.

This method applies only when an employee has 12 months of railroad service in a 30-month period and has not had regular non-railroad employment after that period. For example, a man works 20 straight years in the railroad industry. At the end of these 20 years, he stops working even though he is only age 55. If he does not have regular employment outside the railroad industry, then he will have a current connection established upon his retirement or death. However, self-employment and working for certain federal governmental agencies (Department of Transportation, Interstate Commerce Commission, National Mediation Board and the Railroad Retirement Board) will not break a current connection.

Any employee who has established a current connection at the time he starts receiving his railroad retirement annuity cannot have it broken.

Heartline: How does the Railroad Retirement Board determine who will receive supplemental annuities and how large they will be?—F.J.F.

Answer: A supplemental annuity is payable to any retired railroad worker who worked at least 25 years in the railroad industry and has a current connection with the industry.

The amounts of supplemental annuity awards made after 1974 ranged from $23 to $43. The minimum, $23, is awarded to those employees who retired with 25 years' service in the railroad industry. There is an additional $4 award made for each year of service over 25 years up to the maximum total supplemental annuity of $43.

Heartline: I thought I heard that your organization has written a book explaining Medicare. Is this true?—J.C.T.

Answer: Heartline has developed its own guidebook on Medicare. It is a very easy-to-understand booklet written in question-and-answer form. In addition Heartline has included a section showing some of the problem areas of the Medicare program. You can obtain this booklet by sending $1.50 to Heartline's "Guide to Medicare," 8514 N. Main St., Dayton, Ohio 45415. The book is completely guaranteed, and if you are not satisfied you may return it for a full refund. Please allow 30 days for delivery.

Let's Stay Well

Climate, Weather and Health

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Blasingame

Climate and weather affect our health and physical diseases.

A major specialty, tropical medicine, deals with a host of diseases endemic to the hot, humid tropics. Many illnesses are brought on by bacteria, fungi or parasites. Certain insects thrive in particular climates and serve as a means of transferring infections. Local animals may be numerous and dangerous, and many of the plants may be toxic to eat or harmful to touch.

Bright direct sunlight may increase the incidence of skin cancer on exposed parts of the body.

The humidity of the atmosphere may encourage heat rash, bacterial or fungal attacks on the skin, and chafing or scalding of the skin.

The frigid areas may bring dangers of frostbite or diet imbalance because of a lack of variety of foods, especially water-soluble vitamins in vegetables. Living closely with others may encourage the spread of diseases, such as tuberculosis.

Moderate climate zones encourage more human drive and accomplishments.

Reasons are obscure as to why the seasons affect certain diseases. For example, epidemics of influenza usually begin in the fall, progress during winter, and disappear in the spring to remain absent during summer, only to recur in the fall of the year. Peptic ulcers are said to be more common in springtime.

Many diseases are seasonal and explainable, such as allergy to ragweed. Yet others are unexplainable—for example, retinal detachments are more common in June than during the winter.

Children grow more slowly in the winter, but their growth increases in the spring. However, their maximum weight increase usually occurs between September and November.

Weather influences our behavior and moods. When the barometric pressure is high, we tend to have an upswing in energy, cheer and effectiveness, but low pressure tends to produce gloominess, irritability and slowed performance. Perhaps these reactions date back to primitive times when life was even more affected by weather.

Of course, these generalizations about the effects of weather vary with each of us, depending on how our bodies are functioning at the moment.

Q Mrs. A.Q. expresses concern that she may have harmed her family by feeding them foods containing the dye which has been receiving so much publicity lately.

A You are probably referring to Red No. 2, which was banned recently by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). The dye has been used for years by millions of persons as a coloring in a wide variety of foods, drugs and cosmetics, including candy, pills, soda and lipstick. No evidence of harm to a human has been demonstrated. The FDA action was precautionary because very large doses of Red No. 2 caused cancers in rats.

Q Miss J.R. wants to know if shoes with "negative heels" have advantages.

A Most authorities agree that the "negative heel" shoe (or Earth Shoe) has no advantages in the prevention or relief of foot, leg or back troubles. Admittedly, going barefoot with no elevation or depression under the foot is natural, but the advantages of doing so are not as great as wearing shoes to protect the feet. Elevation of the toes or heels has no apparent benefit.

Scenes From The Alumni Banquet

Dr. Pete Panzera (left), chairman of the Department of Chemistry and Geology, and Dr. Ruth Cole, chairman of the Department of Nursing, were presented 25-year service awards during the banquet program by State Sen. Pat McCuiston of Pembroke, president-elect of the Alumni Association and immediate past vice-president.

A commemorative piece of pottery, struck especially for the occasion by Prof. Fred Shepard in the Department of Art, was presented by President Curris to each member of the Class of 1926. Shown receiving theirs are, from the left, Mrs. Martha S. Carter, Mrs. Evelyn Linn Albritten and Mrs. Robbie Tinsley Harrison, all of Murray, and Mrs. Mary Campbell Williams, Paducah.

Looking at a 1951 yearbook with Charles L. Eldridge, Murray, one of the co-chairmen for the Class of '51's reunion, are Harold Young and his wife, the former Doris Culver of Dexter. They now live in Florence, Ala.

Both classes recognized were represented by mother and daughter, Mrs. Reba Miller of Murray, Class of '26, and Mrs. Clara Jane Miller Phelps of Covington, Tenn., Class of '51. They are being served by Mrs. Norma Davidson Frank of Murray, Class of '51.

Visiting with President Emeritus Harry M. Sparks at the Class of '51 reunion were Mr. and Mrs. John Petillo of Cave City. John, formerly of Neptune, N. J., was a star football player of that era.

U.S. All-Stars Edge By Kentucky-Indiana

By MIKE CLARK
AP Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A rugged forward from New Jersey stole the limelight from local heroes Darrell Griffith and Bobby Turner as the U.S. All-Stars edged the Kentucky-Indiana All-Stars in the Derby Festival Classic basketball game.

Mike O'Koren, from Jersey City, N.J., scored 28 points and grabbed 14 rebounds for the U.S., which needed an overtime to stop Kentucky-Indiana 130-126 last Saturday. The victory was the second straight for the U.S. team and evened the brief series at 2-2.

"It's a good feeling to come down here and show people who don't know about you that you can play," said O'Koren, who was selected most valuable player on the U.S. team. Scoring honors went to Griffith, Louisville Male High School's outstanding guard called the best player in the nation in some circles. Griffith had 29 points, three more than Males teammate Turner. But Turner, who also grabbed 19 rebounds, was voted MVP for Kentucky-Indiana.

O'Koren "is an excellent basketball player," said Kentucky-Indiana Coach Al Ebrewitt. "He was able to do things pretty much his own way. He's a really fundamentally sound player."

"He's probably the best offensive rebounder in high school at this time," said U.S. Coach John Volpe. "He has tremendous timing and he can really get it."

Kentucky-Indiana held several substantial leads during regulation, the last at 112-107 with 2:00 left in the fourth period. But Rickey Brown of Atlanta, who contributed 21 points and 22 rebounds to the U.S. cause, hit a pair of close-in baskets and O'Koren added a layup with 40 seconds remaining to tie matters at 116-116 and force an overtime.

O'Koren's layup with 2:53 left in the extra period put the U.S. ahead for good at 122-121 and another O'Koren crip with eight seconds remaining sealed the decision.

Clyde Austin of Richmond, Va., added 16 points for the U.S. Glen Grunwald of Franklin Park, Ill., and Butch Carter of Middletown, Ohio, had 12 each while Jay Shidler of Lawrenceville, Ill., and Kiki Vandeweghe of Pacific Palisades, Calif., had 10 each.

Tim Stephens of McCreary County, Ky., scored 18 for Kentucky-Indiana; Anthony Jackson of Lexington, Ky., and Mike Woodson of Indianapolis had 11 apiece and Brian Walker of Lebanon, Ind., had 10.

Racer Golfers 17th At Chris Schenkle Tourney

The Murray State University golf team finished 17th out of a field of 18 teams over the weekend at the Chris Schenkle Intercollegiate Golf Tournament in Statesboro, Ga.

Wake Forrest won the team title with a total score of 1058 for 54 holes of golf, which concluded Sunday.

Other scores were: LSU 1061, Georgia Southern 1065, Georgia 1073, Florida State 1075, Auburn 1081, Alabama 1083, Florida 1086, East Tennessee 1090, Furman 1091, Indiana 1096, Tennessee 1097, North Carolina State 1100, Kentucky 1119, Memphis State 1123, Georgia Tech 1135, Murray State 1142 and Middle Tennessee 1145.

Phil Hancock, a two-time All-American from Florida, won the individual title with an 11-under par 202 while Jay Haas, a two-time All-American from Wake Forrest, was runnerup with 204. Finishing third was Gary Duren of Georgia Southern with a 207 while Buddy Gardner of Auburn was fourth with the same 207 total.

Racer scores were: Norman Vacovsky 74-78-71 for a 223; Kevin Klier 75-71-80 for a 226; Mike Perpich 78-74-77 for a 229; Tommy Thomas 74-79-77 for a 230; Randy McCully 79-79-78 for a 236 and Larry Patton 79-79-79 for a 237.

The Racers will be idle until May 10 when they travel to Fall Creek Falls, Tenn., for the Ohio Valley Conference Championship Tourney.

Bruins Finally End 35-Year Hex, Advance To Semifinals

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The supernatural powers of hexes, pyramids and lucky ties were no match for good, solid all-around hockey. That's why the Boston Bruins and Philadelphia Flyers are headed for the National Hockey League's playoff semifinals and the Los Angeles Kings are skating into summer with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Bruins, hadn't won a seven-game playoff series since 1941, when they beat Toronto in seven games and went on to win the Stanley Cup from the Detroit Red Wings. But in their seventh game against the Kings Sunday night, the natural talent of veteran Jean Ratelle and a 15-save shutout by Gilles Gilbert helped break the four series, 35-year Boston hex.

The Maple Leafs had given praise to the mysterious plastic pyramids they had placed in the dressing room and arena after getting five goals from Darryl Sittler and beating Philadelphia 8-5 Thursday night to set up Sunday night's deciding contest. Sittler, who had worn his lucky tie to the rink and placed his sticks under a pyramid before the game Thursday, promised to do the same Sunday.

But after falling behind 2-1, the two-time defending champion Flyers roared back with four goals within 3:16 on their way to a 7-3 triumph over Toronto. Sittler — pyramids, lucky tie and all — didn't score at all.

Thus the best-of-seven semifinals will begin Tuesday night with the New York Islanders visiting Montreal and the Bruins at Philadelphia against the Flyers.

Ratelle, always a gracious team player, refused credit for Boston's 3-0 triumph — even though he scored two goals and set up the other.

"No one player is going to win a game," he said after scoring his sixth and seventh goals and adding his fifth assist. "I'm no Bobby Orr or Phil Esposito. I don't dominate a game. I'm just a guy trying to do a job with my teammates, that's all."

Bruins 3, Kings 0

Los Angeles defenseman Bob Murdoch was in the penalty box when the 35-year-old Ratelle jammed in Ken Hodge's rebound at 9:42 of the first period. Murdoch was serving another penalty — a five-minute major for drawing blood with a high stick — at 12:21 when Hodge sent a short blast past Kings goalie Rogatien Vachon.

Ratelle closed out the scoring in the third period, breaking in with a pass from defenseman Darryl Edstrand and blasting a rare slap shot into the net off Vachon's leg pads.

Flyers 7, Maple Leafs 3

The Maple Leafs, boosted by the sixth-game triumph, went up in flames during the first 10 minutes of the middle period at Philadelphia. Rookie Flyers center Mel Bridgman scored twice and Don Saleski and Ross Lonsberry added the other goals in the explosion.

"The pressure in the first 10 minutes in the second period in this building is unbelievable," said Toronto goalie Wayne Thomas after the Maple Leafs' winless string in Philadelphia was increased to 16 games since Dec. 19, 1971.

Thus ended the series which saw the home team win every game, saw four Flyers players arrested in Toronto, and saw a total of nearly 500 penalty minutes.

Cavaliers Will Try To Finish Bullets Tonight

By The Associated Press
The Cleveland Cavaliers, dancing their way through the National Basketball Association playoffs, are doing the hustle the way it's supposed to be done.

And if they keep it up tonight, they'll hustle high-powered Washington right off the court and step into the semifinals.

The Cavaliers, in the playoff for the first time in their six-year history, lead the Bullets 3-2 in the best-of-seven series, thanks to dashing Dick Snyder, who ran into foul trouble but still managed to run up 26 points in Cleveland's fifth-game victory Thursday night, a 92-91 squaker.

In tonight's other quarter-final playoff, the Golden State Warriors, the NBA's defending champions and the winningest team in the league this season, take a 2-1 lead into Game Four in Detroit. The Warriors ran away from the Pistons in the fourth period last Saturday and won 113-96.

In Sunday's two playoffs, Buffalo beat Boston 98-93 for its first victory in three games against the Celtics and Seattle stayed alive with a 114-108 victory over Phoenix. The Suns lead 3-2 in that series, which resumes Tuesday night in Phoenix. Boston is at Buffalo again Wednesday night.

The Warriors figure to stick with their winning formula against Detroit — smothering Pistons' center Bob Lanier. He had 23 points and 16 rebounds in Saturday's game — but only six points and three rebounds in the second half.

"They were double and triple teaming me in the second half," Lanier said. "We had the open shots but weren't hitting them and that's a 15-foot shot, the kind a professional team should make."

Phil Smith led Golden State with 34 points and Jamaal Wilkes, who had just two points in the first three quarters, added 15 in the final period.

Randy Smith scored 29 points and Bob McAdoo added 24 for Buffalo in Sunday's victory over Boston, but both said Ernie DiGregorio deserved the credit.

"He got everyone moving," McAdoo said, and Smith said: "He gave me some good passes, and when Ernie's moving the ball like that, it's tough for any team in the league to beat us."

Bruce Seals' 28 points, 14 in the final period, and Fred Brown's 21 led Seattle past the Suns. Phoenix, which had managed a 61-61 tie early in the second half, was then outscored 10-2 by the SuperSonics and never recovered.

Koch Honored

GUILFORD, Vt. (AP) — Guilford on Sunday honored its most famous son, 20-year-old Nordic ski champion Bill Koch.

Koch won a silver medal in the 30-kilometer cross country ski event at the Olympic Games at Innsbruck, Austria, Feb. 4.

Notables at "Bill Koch Day" included Gov. Thomas Salmon, former U.S. Sen. George Aiken, and Rep. James Jeffords.

Koch received several gifts, including an exotic wool skiing hat and a silver plate from the Vermont Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association.

Close Race

TIJUANA, Mex. (AP) — The wire at Agua Caliente race track looked like a merry-go-round with four horses across in the 11th race Sunday.

After the race, practically every better in the crowd thought he had a winner, as four horses crossed the finish line virtually nose-to-nose.

The photo, however, showed that Lelaw and Dramatic Award finished first in a dead heat, with Bibotbob and Banchoy John also finishing in a dead heat and sharing the show money a nose back.

Lelaw returned $2.80 for the win, and Dramatic Award paid $11.80 for his share of the victory.

Last Horse To Arrive Should Be First In Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Honest Pleasure was the last of the eight probable starters to arrive at Churchill Downs for next Saturday's Kentucky Derby but is expected to be the first across the finish line for the first leg of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.

Honest Pleasure, owned by Bert Firestone, was named here Sunday from Keeneland where last Thursday he strengthened his favorite role by capturing the Blue Grass Stakes for his ninth straight triumph.

Experts figure the 1 1/4-mile Derby as a two-horse race with Bold Forbes, the Wood Memorial winner owned by E. Rodriguez Tizol of Puerto Rico, as the second choice.

Meantime, a surprise starter popped into the Derby picture Sunday when Amano was given the green light by owner James C. Irvin, a Louisville real estate broker.

Amano, a 200-1 Derby shot when the winter book opened, rallied from last place in a four-horse field to win the Stepping Stone Purse as Churchill Downs opened its spring meeting.

"As things stand now, we're going to try it," trainer Jim Padgett, trainer of Amano, said. "I'm pretty good at handicapping the Derby. And in this one we've got two speed horses, Honest Pleasure and Bold Forbes."

"When that happens, one of them is going to kill the other off and a horse that can stay in there — and I've got no doubt that mine can — has a good chance," said Padgett.

Amano was 12th in the Arkansas Derby but has three victories, two seconds and two thirds in 10 starts this year. Larry Melancon, who rode Amano in the Stepping Stone, would ride again in the Derby.

Amano was clocked in 1:24.5 over a fast track for the seven furlongs, more than three seconds off the stakes record.

Padgett is hoping Amano can duplicate the feat of Majestic Prince (1969) and Cannondade (1974) who won both the Stepping Stone and the Derby.

Owners of R.C. Krickit decided against shipping that colt here after a disappointing showing Saturday at Hialeah.

The remainder of the field for the Derby shaped up as E.C. Cashman's Elucationist, Elmdorff's Play The Red, C.R. Jarrell's Inca Roca, Entremont Stable's Cojak, and Balmak Stable's On The Sly. If eight go in the $125,000-added test for 3-year-olds, it would match the 1969 running as the smallest since Citation's big year in 1948.

Averitt's Tonsils Key For Colonels In Series

By MIKE CLARK
AP Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Bird Averitt's tonsils, believe it or not, may be the key factor when Kentucky and Denver collide Wednesday night in the seventh game of what has been a thrilling American Basketball Association playoff series.

With tonsillitis and a high temperature slowing him to a walk last week, Averitt was ineffective as Denver won two straight and jumped into a 3-2 lead.

But Averitt, although still under the weather, was sufficiently recovered Sunday to score 34 points as Kentucky edged Denver 119-115 in double overtime to square the series at 3-3.

The winner of Wednesday's final will meet New York in the best-of-seven championship series. New York earned its berth by defeating San Antonio 121-114 Saturday to win that semifinal series 4-3.

"I thought Bird rose to the occasion," said Kentucky Coach Hubie Brown. "He beat his man on the power game and made several difficult shots."

"Listen, the guy went out and gave it all he had. What more can you ask?" Brown added.

"My throat is still sore, but it's better," said Averitt, whose three quick baskets in the second overtime finally turned the issue in Kentucky's favor.

Denver won the ABA's Western Division title in 1975 with the best record of any ABA club. But the Nuggets fell to Indiana in the playoff semifinals.

Denver walked away from the rest of the league this year, posting a 60-24 record to outdistance second-place New York by five games. Kentucky was left 14 games in arrears in fourth place.

Nets forward Rich Jones turned in an inspiring clutch performance that shot down San Antonio and sent the Nets into the championship final.

Jones scored 25 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to back Julius Erving's 28 points and 18 rebounds and John Williamson's 26 points.

Schedule Released

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — A six-game exhibition schedule opening Aug. 1 and closing Sept. 5, has been announced for the New England Patriots of the National Football League.

The Patriots will meet the New York Giants at Schaefer Stadium in the preseason opener.

Other home games will be against the Green Bay Packers Aug. 15 and the Philadelphia Eagles Sept. 5. Road games will be Aug. 6 against the San Diego Chargers at a site to be announced, Aug. 21 against the Atlanta Falcons and Aug. 30 against the Cleveland Browns.

Racer Women Get Sixth In Becky Boone Relays

The Murray State women's track team placed fifth out of a field of 26 teams over the weekend at the Becky Boone Relays in Richmond.

Michigan State racked up 111 points to win the title while Tennessee State had 56 points for second place. Rounding out the top 10 were: Florida 54, Kentucky 46 1/2, Murray State 46, Florida State 36, Tennessee 30, Western Kentucky 26, Ohio State 25 and Ball State 23.

The Racer women had three first-place finishes in the meet. Sue Sewing won the javelin with a throw of 127-10 1/2 while in the same event, Linda Rudolph was fourth with 117-4 1/2.

Karen Wilson recorded a 15.3 to win the 100-meter hurdles while the Murray 440-relay team of Wilson, Jackie Anderson, Susan McFarland and Judy Morton took first in 49.8.

Morton was third in the 100-yard dash with an 11.4 while Wilson was fifth in 11.5.

Camille Baker placed fifth in the two-mile run with a 12:33 while Glenda Calabro was sixth in the three-mile run with 20:11. The Racer two-mile relay team of Joan Weber, Brenda Bennett, Sandy Sims and Kathy Schaefer recorded an 11:19.8 to take sixth.

The regular season is now finished for the Racer women.

Mel Purcell Wins Singles Tourney Title

Mel Purcell, a junior at Murray High, captured the singles crown in the 18-year-old division at the Louisville Tennis Club Indoor Invitational Tournament Sunday.

Purcell, who finished second last year in the State Tournament singles and is expected to win it this year, defeated Craig Cordell of Yellow Springs, Oh., 6-4 and 6-4 for the crown.

Purcell did not play in the doubles.

TENNIS

DENVER — Top-seeded Jimmy Connors defeated Ross Case 7-6, 6-2 in the WCT's Denver tournament.

Darrell Griffith May Consider Pro Contract

By MIKE CLARK
AP Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Darrell Griffith, considered by many observers the best high school basketball player in the nation, says he might be willing to listen to "an honest" $3 million offer to bypass college for a professional career.

Griffith cast aside an earlier offer of about $1.7 million submitted shortly after completing his senior season with Louisville Male High School. But the 6-foot-3 guard said that he would at least consider the larger offer.

"I'd have to look at it," he said in a telephone conversation late Sunday. "But it would have to be an honest offer from an established team... a personal service contract with an owner or a money man. That way, if the team or league folds, I'll still get my money."

The possibility that Griffith would receive a second offer was raised in a copyrighted story in the Louisville Courier-Journal. The article quoted Tommy Meehan, an agent for several American Basketball Association players, as saying he had been authorized by two ABA teams to offer Griffith $3 million to sign professionally.

Meehan said that the offer did not come from the Kentucky Colonels, but refused to identify the clubs he represented.

Griffith said that he has not been contacted by Meehan or anyone else offering such a professional contract. He said he "wouldn't care who offered it," as long as the franchise was sufficiently sound to back any contractual commitments.

Griffith rebuked the initial $1.7 million offer after bowing to advice from his coach and family that he would be worth more after completing his college career. Griffith subsequently signed a national letter of intent with the University of Louisville.

"But a $3 million offer is about the best I could expect even if I went through four years of college," Griffith said. "And remember, if the leagues merge before I graduate, I have to take what they give me because there won't be a bidding war anymore."

Although Griffith admitted he would listen to the purported offer, he warned that "I don't think I'm ready to talk face-to-face" with any agent. "I don't want to take a chance on jeopardizing my college eligibility."

Griffith, who averaged 24 points and 14 rebounds last season, said he is somewhat surprised at the talk of professional contracts in the million dollar bracket. "I just didn't think it would be this much."

Indians, A's Brawl On Field, Twins Rip Palmer And Orioles

By MIKE HARRIS
AP Sports Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Robinson was adamant, Chuck Tanner was innocent and Bert Campaneris was reticent.

The three were talking about a bench-clearing brawl and the incident that incited it in the sixth inning of Oakland's 9-1 victory over Cleveland Sunday.

In the only other American League game Sunday, Minnesota got a three-run homer from Larry Hise and defeated Baltimore 7-2. The Texas-Detroit, Kansas City-New York, Boston-Chicago and California-Milwaukee games were rained out.

Cleveland Manager Robinson referred to Campaneris, the A's veteran shortstop, when he said, "They can't hide him from us all year."

The incident that sparked that threat of retaliation came with Oakland holding a seven-run lead and just after Cleveland scored its run with no outs in the sixth.

Cleveland third baseman Buddy Bell singled up the middle and Boog Powell followed with a grounder to second baseman Phil Garner. Campaneris took the toss, made his pivot on the base and his throw struck the sliding Bell in the right temple.

The two came up fighting and both benches cleared.

The trouble apparently began brewing the previous inning when Cleveland pitcher Jim Kern hit both Don Baylor and Campaneris with pitches, although Oakland Manager Tanner said, "I don't think they threw at Baylor when he got hit, or at Campy when he got it."

"I know Campy was trying to make the double play when Bell got hit," Tanner added. "He just didn't get down in time."

"I was just trying to make the double play, that's all," Campaneris said quietly. "But I know Robinson ordered him (Kern) to throw at me."

Robinson steamed when told about the statements by Campaneris and Tanner.

"On that play, he threw right down at Buddy," Robinson said. "He had no intention of throwing to first base. Then, to really show what a coward he is, he kicks the guy when he's down."

As for the charge he ordered Kern to throw at Campaneris, Robinson said, "The next time he plays us, he'll know he's been thrown at. If we're gonna intentionally hit someone, we'd hit (Joe) Rudi. He's the guy who's been hurting us."

Mike Torrez, 2-3, scattered five hits in eight innings and Glenn Abbott gave up just one hit in the ninth. Rudi supplied the muscle, hitting his second two-run homer against the Indians in two days.

Twins 7, Orioles 2
Tom Burgemeir, 1-0, relieved Twins starter Joe Decker in the first after he had walked four Orioles. He shut the door the rest of the way, with the exception of a fourth-inning homer by Doug Decinces that briefly tied the game at 2-2.

"I've never pitched that long ever in the major leagues," Burgemeir said. "But the weather was cool and I didn't throw a whole lot of pitches."

The loser was Baltimore ace Jim Palmer, 3-2, who said, "I just didn't make very good pitches."

Ziegler Sews Up Title In New Orleans Tourney

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A nasty, testing little three-foot putt on the final hole nailed down the victory for Larry Ziegler.

But the happy-go-lucky guy actually won the New Orleans Open with four strokes of the wedge earlier in the week.

"I chipped in four times for the week — twice on Thursday and twice on Saturday," Ziegler said after he'd holed that last tough putt Sunday for a 70 and a one-stroke decision over Victor Regalado.

"That's a difference of maybe eight strokes. That's what won the golf tournament. You can go for two months without chipping in, and then I do it four times in a week. Those four strokes were really the difference."

But those four strokes didn't ease the pressure of the last one.

Ziegler, who'd started the final round with a two-stroke lead, held the advantage throughout the warm, sunny day but saw it cut to a single shot by Regalado's six-foot birdie putt on the 16th hole.

He still led by one when he stood in the middle of the 18th green. Regalado had just finished his regulation, two-putt par and had his 13 under par total safely recorded.

Now Ziegler, a 10-year journeyman, needed to get down in two from 25 feet to score only his third victory.

He lagged up his first putt, and it stopped some three feet short.

"The crowd went, 'ohhhh, ahhh.' They were telling me something. They were telling me I'd left it short and I was in trouble, but, hell, I knew that," he said.

As he surveyed that tough one "my heart was in overtime," he said. "I just told myself, 'Go ahead and hit it — the worst you can do is miss it.'"

But Ziegler made it, finishing off a 274 total, 14 under par on the 7,080-yard Lakewood Country Club course. Regalado's closing 69 left him one stroke back at 275. British Open champion Tom Watson matched the course record with a 64 that lifted him into third place at 276. Watson, however, started the final round eight shots back and never really got in the title hunt.

Jack Nicklaus shot himself out of it early in the day. He flailed away to a double bogey seven — his third double bogey in nine holes, going back to Saturday's third round — was six shots back and never really recovered.

He finished with a 69 and 278 along with defending champion Billy Casper, Jim Colbert, Lee Elder, Gene Littler and Gibby Gilbert. Gilbert and Littler had closing 68s, Colbert, Casper and Elder 70s.

Hubert Green matched par 72 as the playing partner of Ziegler and Regalado and was at 279.

Honest Pleasure To Run Against Invisible Foe

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When Honest Pleasure breaks from the starting gate in Saturday's Kentucky Derby, he will be racing an invisible foe — a living legend.

Honest Pleasure goes into Saturday's 102nd Derby renewal as a heavy favorite. Should he win as expected, he will be touted as a Triple Crown candidate. Therein lies the battle with the legend.

Back in 1973, Secretariat captured the fancy of the world by becoming the first horse in 25 years to win the Triple Crown — the Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont. He did it with record efforts, capped by an awesome 31-length victory in the Belmont that has been called the greatest equine exhibition ever.

Secretariat's trainer, Lucien Laurin, thinks that an Honest Pleasure victory on Saturday will trigger comparisons.

"He (Honest Pleasure) was terrific as a 2-year-old and so was Secretariat," said Laurin. "If he keeps going, people will have to start comparing him to Secretariat before long."

Can Honest Pleasure become as popular as Secretariat?

"I'll have to stick with Big Red, maybe because I trained him, maybe because of the memories," said Laurin. "He'll have to go a helluva long way before he gathers Secretariat's magic. I don't think there'll ever be another Secretariat."

Secretariat, now standing at stud at Claiborne Farm in Lexington, Ky., brings back fond memories to LeRoy Jolley, who trains Honest Pleasure.

"I guess I was about as big a fan as anyone," said Jolley. "A guy always hopes one like that will come his way."

Does he have such a specimen in Honest Pleasure?

"It's always flattering to hear someone say that this horse might be another Secretariat, but there's no valid basis for comparison right now," said Jolley. "I hope in seven or eight weeks people will be making the comparison."

Candelaria Handcuffs Giants While Cardinals Beat Padres

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
John Candelaria was in midseason form. He went a solid nine innings.

Don Gullett was in midseason form, too. He went a solid six, then got the hook.

Candelaria, Pittsburgh's rangy young left-hander, stifled San Francisco on a measly two hits Sunday and — surprising even himself — shut out the Giants 3-0.

Gullett, Cincinnati's strong young left-hander, shut out Montreal for six innings on just five hits, then Manager Sparky Anderson, alias Cap'n Hook, came along and gave the ball to Pat Darcy

... who gave up two more hits in the final three innings of the Reds' 7-0 victory over the Expos.

In Sunday's other National League games, New York beat Houston 4-2, St. Louis stifled San Diego 3-1, Atlanta edged Philadelphia 4-3 and Los Angeles defeated Chicago 5-4 in 10 innings.

Candelaria gave up only one legitimate hit, Willie Montanez' double in the fifth inning. The other was a first-inning fluke, when shortstop Frank Taveras lost Bobby Murcer's pop-up in the sun.

"Montanez hit a good pitch, a fastball inside," Candelaria conceded. And he admitted he didn't expect to be around at the end of the game. "I was surprised I could go nine. The cool weather at Candlestick helped."

The Pirates gave him all the help he needed with six hits and three runs in the fifth inning, starting with Willie Stargell's third homer of the year.

Reds 7, Expos 0
Gullett, in his first start of the year, got the bulk of his support from Johnny Bench and Dave Concepcion, each of whom hit his second homer of the year.

"I wasn't really consistent with my fastball the way I wanted to be," Gullett said. "I had some good pitches, with the exception of a real good fastball. I didn't break a sweat the whole game. I had good location on my pitches. That's what I was happy about, that and some good off-speed stuff."

Mets 4, Astros 2
Houston's Joe Niekro wild-pitched home New York's tie-breaking run in the eighth inning and Ron Hodges singled for another one, then Ken Sanders' who had replaced Mets' starter Jon Matlack in the seventh, made the runs stand up.

Cards 3, Padres 1
Willie Crawford drove in two runs for the Cardinals with a homer and a sacrifice fly, and John Curtis struggled through nine innings by scattering 10 San Diego hits for his first victory of the season.

St. Louis scored in the second when left fielder Johnny Grubb dropped Reggie Smith's fly ball for a three-base error and Crawford hit his fly ball. In the fifth, Crawford homered, Ron Fairly walked Don Kessinger doubled. Mike Ivie homered in the ninth for the Padres.

Braves 3, Phillies 2
Atlanta's Dave May hadn't had a hit all year — until Larry Cristenson tried to slip one too many fastballs past him. The results was a two-run homer in the sixth inning that beat the Phils.

Dodgers 5, Cubs 4
Los Angeles put together its first two-game winning streak of the young season — and it took an unearned run in the 10th inning to get it.

Ted Sizemore was safe when first baseman Andre Thornton juggled a throw by shortstop Dave Rosello. John Hale bunted him to second and he scored on Ron Cey's single to center field. Henry Cruz hit his first major-league homer for the Dodgers, a three-run shot.

Dog-gone Dog
CLEVELAND, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi College's James Trimble crossed the finish line in sixth place in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles, but officials listed him as the winner of the event.

Trimble had a five-yard lead as he cleared the last hurdle in the Gulf South Conference Track and Field Championship event Sunday, but a hairy competitor knocked him down, and nearly out of the race.

Officials said Trimble's competitor, a large black shaggy dog, was disqualified. The dog apparently slipped past the gate-keeper and was dashing across the track when he collided with Trimble.

Trimble struggled to his feet to cross the finish line. Officials credited him with the victory because of the lead he held before the unscheduled interruption.

Joe Dan Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Taylor of Almo, has been selected as FFA Member of the Month for April by the Calloway County Chapter of the Future Farmers of America. Taylor, a senior, was selected as a result of placing Superior 2nd in the Purchase Regional FFA Swine Impromptu Speaking Contest on March 23. He also has served as treasurer of the chapter and was responsible for the Chapter Treasurer's Book receiving a Superior rating in the Regional Contest. He has entered numerous FFA contests during his four years in Vo-Ag and the FFA.

At Corn Planting Time, Small Seed Trims Seed Costs

Corn farmers who shy away from planting smaller seed sizes should take another look. There's more than a size difference when it comes to your pocketbook.

Small seed is every bit as good as larger seed, size makes no difference in hybrid performance. What's more, small seed can help trim your seed bill this spring.

That's the opinion of Wayne Fowler, director of agronomic education for DeKalb AgResearch, Inc., DeKalb, Illinois. He says, "If you haven't taken advantage of smaller, lower-priced seed sizes when using a conventional planter, you'll really be missing a good bet if you pass up economy-priced seeds for plateless planters."

Fowler estimates savings of up to $1 per acre on the most popular DeKalb single-cross hybrids by using small or extra small rounds and flats.

Seed Size Makes No Difference in Performance

You don't sacrifice performance when you buy smaller seeds, Fowler explains. Field trials show that large flats, for example, aren't any better than small rounds.

In DeKalb farm demonstrations, seed size has no bearing on final yield. Fowler says there is often more difference between checks of the same size than between seed sizes.

Why Size Seed?

Some crop growers ask seed companies why they don't market seed as it comes off the ear and save the cost of sizing. There's a good reason, according to Fowler.

"After DeKalb workers hand sort the good ears, removing any that don't meet rigid standards, ears are shelled and seed is sized."

After seed is sized, germination tests are run on each batch and size of seed. And, since small seeds come primarily from the tip of the ear — and any disease problems that might have occurred during the growing season usually affect this area — these seeds can be discarded if germination isn't up to par.

If there's any frost damage, it usually hits large rounds which come from the base of the ear, and it's easy to discard these if germination tests indicate damage.

What happens if your seed isn't sized? Fowler says germination tests would be run, but it would be impossible to discard the large rounds, the small flats or any other seed size where germination isn't as high as seed from the rest of the ear.

To discard any lower germination seed, it might be necessary to junk all seed sizes. And there's no economy in that. So, chances are overall seed germination of unsized seed would be a little lower.

"It makes more sense to sell each of a range of seed sizes separately. This way, you're getting quality seed at a bargain price," he says.

An Easy Way To Increase Corn Profits

It's well proven that planting corn early puts more bushels in your bin at harvest. But what does it really cost if you're late with planting?

The most common figure is a bushel per acre of corn for every day after May 10 in central Iowa, says Wayne Fowler, director of agronomic education, DeKalb AgResearch, Inc., DeKalb, Illinois.

Being a week late then, with 200 acres of your crop, could cost you about $2,800 at $2 corn. Dates for optimum planting vary with every area of the country, but losses beyond that period average about the same.

Losses don't stay steady either.

"About 15 days beyond the optimum period, daily losses from late planting will become even greater," Fowler says.

Early Planting Means Drier Corn in Fall

Higher yields plus drier corn are two big reasons early planting can boost profits, Fowler explains. "Early planted corn tends to silk and tassel earlier under better light conditions, better probability of rainfall and generally more favorable temperatures."

"In Iowa, for example, corn planted on April 25 will generally silk and tassel about the 4th to 15th of July. Add 55 to 60 days for grain filling, and the plants will reach physiologic maturity in mid-September. From then on, the grain gives up moisture.

"And since the weather is still warm, the dry-down rate is faster than it would be later in the fall. With average drying conditions, corn can give up 1% moisture per day — this means the corn could be at 23 to 24% by the first week in October."

Other advantages of early planting:

- Improves chances of finishing harvest before bad weather hits.

- Permits more fall field work.

- Plants are shorter, with lower-set ears, so they stand better.

- Soil is shaded earlier to stretch moisture.

- Results in higher test weight and a higher grain-to-stover ratio.

Plant Shallow

Kernels planted shallow emerge faster and produce a better stand, Fowler explains. Soil near surface warms more rapidly, speeding germination.

"DeKalb hybrids are noted for early vigor, which lets you plant early in cool soil and still get good stands," he says. "However, to get full benefit from early planting, drop an extra 2,000 kernels per acre."

In large-scale company tests at Dayton, Iowa, he points out, corn was planted on April 13 and May 2 from one to four inches deep. The deeper planted corn took longer to emerge and ended up with less final stand.

How Date of Planting Affects Corn Yields

It pays to plant corn early say seed experts at DeKalb Ag research, Inc. Shown here are representative results from one 12 year study at Dayton, Iowa which demonstrates the drastic affect late planting has on corn yields.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

A lot of gardeners still plant some crops by tradition—beans on Good Friday, peas on St. Valentine's Day, melons on any Saturday in May, millet when chestnut trees are in bloom, sweet corn when oak leaves reach the size of squirrel ears, and "tater" onions on Election Day in November.

These planting practices may work fine sometimes, or even most of the time, but as UK Extension garden specialist C.R. Roberts says, one of the most important elements of success in growing a garden is planting or transplanting vegetables at the time or times best for the operation.

As Roberts points out, the gardener naturally wants to make the first planting of each vegetable as early as possible in the spring. In some years, in spite of tradition, Good Friday or St. Valentine's Day may not be the right time.

Many vegetables, Roberts adds, are so hardy to cold that they may be planted a month or more before the average date of the last freeze, or about six weeks before the frost-free date. Actually, most cold tolerant plants like peas, spinach, and cabbage thrive better in cool weather than in hot. Thus, in Kentucky, the gardener must time his planting, not only to escape the cold, but—with certain crops—to also escape the heat. Some vegetables, like cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and turnips, will not thrive and be of good quality when planted in late spring. They may be sown, however, in late summer so they can make their growth in the cooler weather of autumn.

Roberts recommends that vegetable crops be roughly grouped and planted according to their hardiness and temperature requirements. A timetable for planting most garden crops is available from your county Extension office.

Have you ever looked at a 1500 pound Brahma bull right in the eye at about three feet? Well, this writer got the chance at the Murray State Exposition center Saturday night.

The bull riding was just one event at Murray State's first, and we hope not the last, intercollegiate rodeo held this week at the new Exposition center on the College Farm Road.

All of the rodeo events are dangerous because they involve live animals which have to be ridden, wrestled, thrown, dogged, roped, milked and whatever else a cowboy or girl has to do to win the particular contest that he or she is involved in. All the animals were definitely live and some of them were possessed of a very nasty disposition.

Being around rodeo and rodeo people is probably a new experience for most of the residents of this area, but they will get the chance to see top-notch events, such as this M. S. U. rodeo, as the M. S. U. teams become more deeply involved in the world of rodeo.

If you missed the M. S. U. rodeo mark it down on your list of things to do next year because it was an experience to say the very least.

You really have to see this type of competition first hand in order to appreciate it. There is a great deal of courage involved in sitting on, jumping on, or holding on to something that doesn't want you to do it. Many times the animal comes up the winner.

Rodeo is a wonderful world! Come on out and try it sometime.

Also thanks to Bill Cherry, director of rodeo and exhibition center, and Jim

Rev. Crump Attending Methodist Meet, Oregon

Reverend Ed L. Crump, Jr., Superintendent of the Paris District of the United Methodist Church, will be one

Rev. Ed L. Crump, Jr. of the ten delegates from the Memphis Conference attending this year's session of that denomination's General Conference at Portland, Oregon, April 27-May 8.

Beginning with Holy Communion and the Episcopal

Address on the 27th, a total of 984 elected delegates (65 of them from outside the United States) and hundreds of visitors from World Methodism will spend two weeks in this official legislative body.

The General Conference of 1976 will have a full agenda taken from concerns expressed by members throughout the world. More than 15,000 petitions have been sent to the Petitions Secretary by individuals, church school classes, Administrative Boards, congregations, and Annual Conferences. After these petitions have been processed and debated in one of ten legislative committees, they will be brought to the floor of the General Conference with recommendations for action from the respective committees. In many instances the action of the Conference will bring about changes in the discipline of the United Methodist Church.

The Quinquennial theme: "Committed to Christ, Called to Change" will be presented for approval.

Another agenda item will be the setting of priorities for the ensuing quadrennium 1976-1980. Two priorities to be considered are: continuing and expanding emphasis on alleviating World Hunger and the strengthening of Ethnic Minority Local Churches.

Other anticipated items include: a report of the Study Commission on the Episcopacy and District Superintendency with recommendation for an eight year maximum tenure for a bishop to serve in any one area. A minority report will propose a term episcopacy as opposed to life tenure for a bishop. Many petitions center on the ministry including the meaning of ordination, ministerial education, with some favoring the granting of annual conference voting rights and sacramental privileges to all lay pastors serving churches. A large number of petitions are directed both for and against a quadrennial study of human sexuality.

A creative, aggressive commitment to evangelism and strengthening the church school is expected to occupy major attention of the conference. The General Council on Finance and Administration will present the World Service Budget for the total church to the General Conference for consideration and adoption.

There are equal numbers of lay and clergy voting delegates at General Conference, elected by their respective annual conferences. The bishops of the church preside without vote over the various plenary sessions.

Official communication organs of the conference include a Daily Christian Advocate, Newscope, Newscope Reports (a cassette-slide presentation), and the toll-free United Methodist Information Service (INFOSERV). Tennesseeans call collect: (615) 327-1951; all other states, (800) 251-8140. Interpretation sessions will also be held in the various districts after the General Conference is concluded.

SENIOR CITIZENS

The Lynn Grove Senior Citizens will meet Wednesday, April 28, at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Jan Maddox. Mrs. Molena Armstrong will speak on the warning signs of cancer and the group will continue lessons on macramé. For information call 753-8193 or 753-0929.

BANK NOTES

by William M. Boyd

It is thought that the poorest people in the world live in Northern Australia. Certain aborigines there exist by eating rats, lizards and yams. They have no money at all.

Very few, if any, of our people are that unfortunate. We do realize that emergencies do arise and are ready to help when we can.

Cathy Brooks, Jerry Epps Named Outstanding Students

Cathy Brooks of Grover, Mo., and Jerry Epps of Benton walked away from the annual Honors Day Program at Murray State University Sunday with the most coveted awards as the Outstanding Senior Woman and Man.

They were among about 400 students recognized during the program and among 185 who received individual presentations of grants, cash awards, certificates, and citations by the university and by various campus scholastic and honorary organizations.

Chosen for the top awards from among students named to "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" for the 1975-76 school year, both will graduate Summa Cum Laude, Epps on May 8 and Miss Brooks during summer commencement exercises in August.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Brooks, both alumni of Murray State, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Calhoun of Murray. A 20-year-old Spanish major with a French minor, she was also honored during the honors program for the second successive year as the Outstanding Spanish Major.

Miss Brooks has been accepted by the School of Law at the University of Missouri and will enroll there next fall.

Active in many roles on the campus, she has served as a representative of the Student Government Association and as secretary of the Student Activities Board. She is also a member of the Spanish Club, French Club, and Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority.

Her other campus affiliations include Alpha Chi national honor society for scholarship, Sigma Delta Pi honorary Spanish society, Pi Delta Phi honorary French society, and Alpha Lambda Delta freshman women's scholarship fraternity.

Epps, who has been accepted into the Medical School at the University of Kentucky for next fall, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Epps. The 22-year-old Marshall countian was recognized during the honors program as the Outstanding Biology Senior. He has a major in biology and a minor in chemistry.

He is presently the president of Omicron Delta Kappa honorary leadership society and a past president of Alpha Chi. Epps has also been active in the Pre-Med Club, Beta Beta Beta biological sciences society, and Sigma Chi social fraternity.

Among the other top Honors Day awards were Martha McKinney of Murray as Ideal Freshman Woman and Kerry Harvey of Benton as the Ideal Freshman Man. They each received a $200 scholarship.

Cathy Cole of Murray, who presided during the program as the outgoing president of the Student Government Association, was presented the Ralph Woods Memorial Award for leadership and service in behalf of students.

Murray Sub-District

To Meet On Tuesday

The Murray Sub-District United Methodist Youth Fellowship will hold its monthly meeting at the Lynn Grove Skating Rink on Tuesday, April 27, from seven to 9:30 p. m.

Cost will be fifty cents for skates. A slate of persons running for officers will be submitted.

Others recognized during the program were outstanding students from various academic departments and honor societies and students named to "Who's Who."

Dr. William G. Read, vice-president for academic programs, handled the honors presentations, assisted by deans and department chairmen. Dr. Constantine W. Curris, university president, welcomed parents and guests to the campus. Bill Fisher, Murray senior, delivered the invocation.

Carter Supporters To Meet April 28

A meeting of all supporters for former Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter's bid for the Democratic nomination for President of the United States is scheduled for Wednesday, April 28, 1976, at 12 noon at the Holiday Inn.

Dale Sights, state campaign manager for Carter, will be the featured speaker for the occasion which is designed to assemble a county-wide organization to work on behalf of Carter for the May 25th Primary.

Lunch is dutch treat. All supporters of Carter are invited.

Rampage Of Ex-Convict Leaves Three Dead, 13 Wounded

JACKSON, Ga. (AP) — As he forged a bloody trail through Georgia and Florida, an ex-convict snorted cocaine and bragged about his shooting and kidnap rampage that left three dead and 13 wounded. He ended the saga by killing himself, authorities say.

"When he talked about all those people being dead, he would laugh about it," said

Locust Grove Baptist Church Plans Revival

Revival services will begin at the Locust Grove Baptist Church on Wednesday, April 28, and continue through Sunday evening, May 2. Services will be held each evening at 7:30.

Speakers will be as follows: Wednesday — Brother Gerald Owens, Pastor, Sugar Creek Baptist Church.

Thursday — Brother Bill Whittaker, Pastor, First Baptist, Murray.

Friday — Brother Charles Dinkins, Associate Pastor, First Baptist Church, Mayfield.

Saturday — Brother H. D. Hudson, Pastor, Puryear Baptist Church.

Sunday — Brother Charles Blair, Dean, Mid-Continent College, Mayfield.

Methodists Plan Church School

The Vacation Church School will be held at the First United Methodist Church from Monday, June 21, through Friday, June 25, with classes for ages three to twelve scheduled from nine to 11:30 a. m.

Directors of the school will be Melissa Easley, Ruth Ann McLeomore, and Mary Lou Abbott.

Susie Critton, a hostage who escaped unharmed. "He was smiling about it like he was glad. He had no regrets. He just kept talking and sniffling the cocaine."

Moses Pearson Jr., 31, apparently was angry at being cheated in a cocaine deal when he started the crime spree in his hometown of Jacksonville, Fla., on Saturday night, authorities said. He left two men dead there and six wounded.

Then he fled north into Georgia, killing a third man and wounding seven others.

Along the way, he abducted six women who escaped unharmed — three who drove him into Georgia and a Bay Village, Ohio, woman and her two teenage daughters, abducted on a Georgia highway.

Pearson began his rampage with three shootings within a 30-minute span in north Jacksonville, police spokesman Mike Gould said.

At all three locations he demanded money.

"Robbery was at least a partial motive, but we feel there's a strong possibility of a drug tie-in in all those cases. Either he was ripped off or had been ripped off in the past," Gould said. "We know he had an argument with some of these people."

MCC Board Considering New Courts

The proposal that additional tennis facilities be constructed at the Murray Country Club still is under study and advisement by the club's board of directors.

No action was taken on the proposal at a special meeting of the board April 19 pending an additional study involving improvement of the two present courts at the club. A committee composed of Richard Knight, Buddy Buckingham, Dr. George Oakley and Dr. Dick Stout was asked to further investigate the proposal including the upgrading of the existing courts, and to have a recommendation for the board to consider at its May 3 meeting.

In an earlier meeting in April, the board authorized Eddie Hunt, local tennis teacher, to provide lessons for club members during specified times on one of the existing courts except for holidays and times when organized events would be scheduled for the courts.

The purchase of 30 wooden chairs and four umbrella tables for the swimming pool area also was approved by the board Monday night along with the family membership application of Dr. Jorge Garrastazu and his wife, Meme, 812 Bagwell Blvd.

Cooperating Preschool Plans For Open House
